

The vitality of our soils, lochs and seas is at an unprecedented low giving impoverished farming production. This resulting inadequate nutrition for both animals and humans contributes to chronic illness and disease on epidemic proportions. The Bioemitter farming system was developed to address this issue, alongside the best in care and husbandry.

By using these highly specific vibrational essences pollutants and organisms can be deactivated and eliminated and body/crop systems enhanced and balanced.

The Bioemitter system has biological feedback to deal with mutations and adaptations by virus and bacteria ensuring protection for the future.

How it works

At a sub molecular level everything is vibrating energy. Using the Bioemitter technology at this level we can beneficially effect the environment and its flora and fauna without undesirable side-effects. Highly specific frequency patterns are carried on a carrier wave designed to interact with biology at this sub quantum level. The Bioemitter creates a high vibrational field that is discernible and tangible. Within the field organisms that carry a low natural frequency (virus, bacteria, mycoplasma and so on) will find it harder and harder to exist. Organisms that carry a higher natural frequency (birds, animals and crops), will be vitalised and become healthier in the high frequency field.

Relationship

The Bioemitter system is offered as part of an ongoing consultancy in bio-energetic farming for a reasonable monthly fee. The farm is regularly visited and surveyed, the intent is to look at the energetic systems prevalent and work with the farmer on best practice for health of land, water, crop and animal, fish or bird. As well as adjusting the Bioemitters' programming on the farm to get best results.

Pollutants and organisms are deactivated and eliminated.

All farming sectors can be enabled to provide better nutrition for all.

Specific codes are programmed into the Bioemitter system to focus on eliminating issues such as red mite in the chicken sheds, or sealice in the salmon farms. Homeopathic or biodynamic vibrational essences are transmitted to the animal, fish or crop for certain positive effects such as enhancing immunity.

Through whole farm bioenergetic health the farmer will achieve better output, quality, quantity and hence profitability. The crops, animals, fish and birds will enjoy the best possible health and welfare.

The Bioemitter farming system provides the opportunity to farm consistently without chemical or drug input of any kind, producing food of the highest purity, vibration and nutrition.

Livestock

Salmonella Zap count reduced to zero. Happy, content, healthy animals
Chemical and drug free

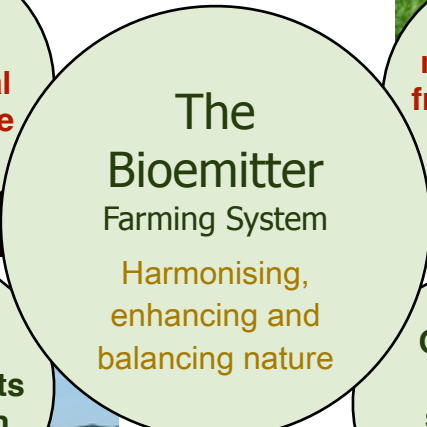

Low cost rental
zero capital expenditure

Crops

Improved germination, uniform growth, unparalleled taste, high brix and longer shelf life.
Optimized microclimate for best possible growing conditions.
Weed and disease control and inhibition

Simple, maintenance free add on to any farming system

The Bioemitter Farming System

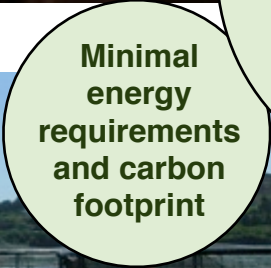

Harmonising, enhancing and balancing nature

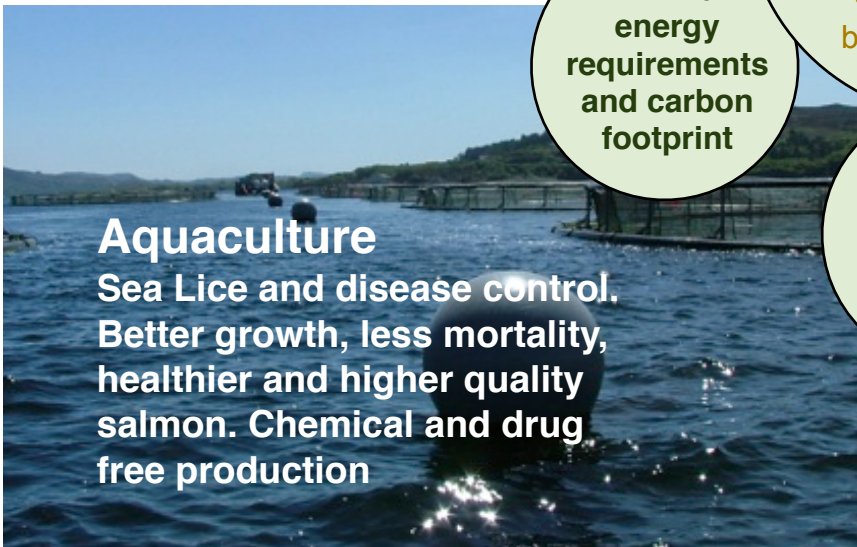

Optimum growth, superior nutrition

Safe, chemical free, weed, pest and disease control

Minimal energy requirements and carbon footprint

Aquaculture

Sea Lice and disease control. Better growth, less mortality, healthier and higher quality salmon. Chemical and drug free production

Egg production

Control of Red Mite, pests and diseases
Less mortality, better feathering, increased production of first quality eggs over a longer period.
Chemical and drug free
